A Glimpse into Saudi Arabia's Economy

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia is considered the largest and most prominent economy in the Arab World, and is the 20th largest economy in the world in terms of GDP. The Kingdom is one of the largest oil-producing and exporting nations, and boasts a unique strategic location amid the Red Sea and The Gulf.

The country's recent 2016 budget underscored its commitment to activate the National Transformation Program "Saudi 2030", which aims to build a strong and comprehensive economy founded on solid pillars and with diverse sources of income.

Confidence in the Future

The economic future of Saudi Arabia and the Gulf is viewed with confidence and optimism. The region's journey toward economic renaissance is anchored by the Gulf States' strong and diverse economic base, clear vision for the future, large economic projects, broad natural and economic resources, and keen awareness of the importance of sustainable development to the region's stability.
